

Welcome

Bromfield Court is situated in the centre of the rural town of Stone in Staffordshire. The court enjoys a peaceful setting yet is within walking distance of the high street, with a good selection of shops, restaurants and pubs.

There is plenty to do in the town, with a thriving monthly farmers' market and various celebrations throughout the year. The Trent and Mersey canal and the River Trent run through the centre of Stone and offer many pleasant walks.

Stone has a wide variety of restaurants, pubs and hotels as well as many high street shops and independent retailers. The town was once famous for brewing beer and the old Joules brewery can still be seen from the canal side.

There is a reliable and regular bus service that runs between Stoke-on-Trent and Stafford from Stone. There is also a train station which provides connections to the mainline rail network.

Our roots lie with the Royal British Legion (RBL), which in 1921 began to house disabled ex-servicemen and widows and, later, older ex-servicemen and women. In 1964, we became a recognised housing association before separating from the Royal British Legion in 1993 to become Housing 21.
